

How to use Your and You're

Your is something that belongs to you.

Your dog, your car, your identity; they all belong to you.

You're is short for 'you are'.

Wrong, wrong, wrong!

Your a goose.

Your going to the beach.

Your having trouble knowing when to use 'your'.

Right, right, right!

You're a goose. (You are a goose.)

You're going to the beach. (You are going to the beach.)

You're having trouble knowing when to use 'your'.

Sound it out. If 'you are' sounds right, then use you're.

That's not difficult is it?
